2013

Thursday, September 12,

Adelante's Community Living program operates over twenty homes that provide care 24 hours/7 days a week. Some homes are owned by the residents and others by the agency, but all of the homes provide an accessible environment with caring and supportive staff members. We can accommodate many types of disabilities – from very active individuals to medically fragile. Each house offers nursing and medical supports, nutritional counseling, and lots of community access activities.

Adelante's Community Living houses are truly homes and the people involved choose roommates with similar goals, needs, and interests. Our well-trained staff members take time to make sure that each person is comfortable and feels at home. The rooms are decorated and painted the person's favorite colors, and the participants can choose their own comforters and window coverings. The houses also offer a variety of activities and relaxation areas for the roommates. Many houses have gardening areas, picnic tables, porch swings, and barbecue grills. The yards have accessible ramps and pathways so the residents can fully enjoy being outside in the beautiful New Mexico weather.

Transportation is available so that people can run errands and get to work or school. Entertainment outings are highly favored, and the roommates work as a team to decide on activities.

Home Openings in the Albuquerque Metro Area -

St. Mary's

A traditional New Mexico pueblo-style home near Montgomery and Tramway in the far northeast heights, offers vaulted ceilings with exposed beams and beautiful views of the Sandia Mountains. The open floor plan is great for people who are in wheelchairs and the grassy backyard offers views of the mountains, and is tucked away from the usual city hustle and bustle. The opening in this quiet neighborhood home is best suited for a gentle souled male who likes to quietly socialize with others.

Natalie Court

Natalie Court is located in Albuquerque's northeast heights. The house has four openings available so the options are pretty open to men or women with a variety of ability levels. Natalie has a large roll-in shower and the home is entirely accessible for wheelchairs, too. In every home Adelante encourages community participation and compatibility with roommates, so we're hoping for people who are striving for more independence, who enjoy meeting others, and who would like to volunteer and be active in the community. There is a large backyard with a patio for socializing.

Home Openings in the Valencia County

Area -

Western

A quaint little town house in Belen, Western has a beautiful back yard with a gazebo and room for gardening. It's located close to other Adelante homes and would be a perfect fit for a fun-loving woman who is more active and independent. The two other female roommates love meeting new people and get along well with other individuals who are carefree and easy going.

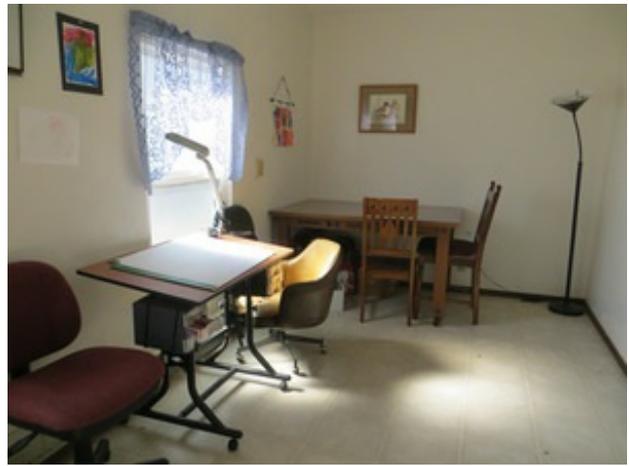

Beta Court

This is a huge house with an open floor plan. The backyard is a nature lover's paradise with room for barbecues, sports, and other outdoor activities. The current roommates are two outgoing men who enjoy volunteering in the community, attending sporting events, and having game nights and playing pool in their garage/game room area. This would be a great setting for another bachelor who has similar interests, is mobile and verbal, and enjoys spending time with others. Ideally, he'd be a Lobo fan, too! Come for a tour to Beta Court's cul-de-sac location, and you may find yourself helping to host our next guy's only game night!

Horner

A house that offers great views of New Mexico's sunsets, Horner is currently home to two men who love to volunteer in the community. They are in need of a friend who wants to help volunteer for Desert Harvest Food Rescue on Saturday mornings and who loves to socialize and spend a lot of time in the community. Ideal for higher functioning individuals, the open bedroom is a roomy space with huge windows and great views.
