

Social Security Administration provides information about work incentives at: <https://choosework.ssa.gov/about/work-incentives/index.html>

Additional information on SSI/SSDI benefits and how they work in relation with earned income can be found in Social Security Administration’s Red Book at: <https://www.ssa.gov/redbook/>

Trial Work Period(TWP) (SSDI recipients only)		The TWP allows you to test your ability to work for at least nine months. During your TWP, you will receive full SSDI benefits no matter how much you earn as long as your work activity is reported and you have a disabling impairment.
Extended Period of Eligibility (EPE) (SSDI recipients only)		EPE is a 36 consecutive month period following the TWP. During the 36 months of EPE if your work stops or is reduced for any reason, Social Security will start your benefits again without any new application.
Expedited Reinstatement(EXR) (SSDI and SSI recipients)		If your benefits stopped because of your earnings level, and you are no longer able to work because of your medical condition, or one related to it, you can request to have your benefits reinstated without having to complete a new application. While Social Security determines your benefits reinstatement, you are eligible to receive temporary benefits for up to six months.
